

GENERAL COURSE INFORMATION HISTORY 108 and HISTORY 109 ONLINE

History 108 and History 109 Online

We read approximately 1-2 chapters of the text each week in History 108 and History 109. There is a graded weekly discussion where you comment on the assigned work. You are required to use formal writing in all communication in these classes. I recommend completing English 120 with a C or higher before you take these courses. There are other assignments such as quizzes on the text material (open book), unit exams and written responses. All assigned work is asynchronous. There is no set time to log in to the course; however in order to be successful you must log onto the course often to participate in class work. There are deadlines for assignments on weekends. Test 4 during finals week has a Thursday deadline.

Online courses can be more difficult than “face to face” classes as an online course requires active learning. In this class you are responsible for keeping current in the reading and for showing your understanding the assignments using formal writing. Since students read 1-2 chapters of the text per week and are graded on weekly Discussion posts it is strongly recommended that one must be able to read and write English on the college level. If you do not have these abilities, this course is not an appropriate one for you at this time.

Is Online for You?

Cuyamaca’s “Student Support page will help you decide if you are the type of student that will be successful in an online format.

<http://www.cuyamaca.edu/services/online-learning/default.aspx>