

I was always interested in being in front of the classroom, but I never really had much of an interest in the way the education system works outside of the classroom. However, that has completely changed as I have started my career as an instructor. As I have continued to work in higher education, I have become increasingly interested in the operations of the campus. In always having promoted myself as a lifelong learner, I feel as though the more I learn about the campus outside of the classroom the better I will be able to teach my students inside the classroom. This is the primary reason for my nomination to the Academic Senate, and I hope to be able to serve my campus community in this capacity.

Thank you for your time,

Jonathan Martin
